FEUSTEL CHARGES "FRAME-UP"

SOFT COAL MINERS REFUSE TO POSTPONE STRIKE CALL

CLAIMS "PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATION" USED IN EMPIRE CO. CASE

Indicted Man, Called as Witness in Trial of Ohio vs K. M. Brumfiel, Makes Dramatic Appeal to Jury in Common Pleas Court Wednesday.

That King M. Brumfiel and Herman B. Feustel, former bookkeeper and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the Empire Investment company, now facing joint embezzlement charges before common pleas court at Lisbon, are the victims of a carefully planned "frame-up," was the startling declaration made by Feustel in court at Lisbon Wednesday morning.

Feustel, who was called to the witness stand Tuesday afternoon to testify in behalf of Brumfiel, told how he had been called into a meeting of the directors shortly after the sudden collapse of the brokerage concern, how he had made several incriminating utterances under the belief that Attorney Jason M. Brookes, who was present at the meeting, was his own attorney.

Following up this statement, Feustel, in a dramatic appeal to the jury, declared that "it was just a frame-up against us." He charged Attorney Brookes with misrepresentation.

At this juncture, attorneys for the defense raised the issue that Feustel's statements made in the presence of Attorney Brookes should not be divulged to the court, claiming a legal technicality in the form of a "privileged communication," as between attorney and client. The prosecution produced several directors, however, who testified that Attorney Brookes represented them alone and not Feustel, and the motion of the defense was overruled.

M. H. Blythe, cashier of the Citizens' National bank, was put upon the stand to show that no cash deposits were made by Brumfiel at or near the time he claimed to have deposited cash to take care of one check issued to him for $1,000 and another for $1,400.

Testifies to Stock Dealings

When Feustel was called to witness stand late Tuesday afternoon, in answer to questions of counsel for the defense, made the following statements regarding himself:

"I am 42 years old. I was born in East Liverpool. Quit school when in the grammar school at the age of 14 years. Went to work on my 14th birthday in a pottery. Was a decorator. Continued working until July, 1917, when I took charge of the affairs of the investment company."

"First began to invest in stocks in March, 1909. Then there were just six of us. We put in $100 each and began buying stocks direct. Did not deal in margins. I was manager of the company, but continued to work during the day. We made good. In 1912, after others had come in, we set up an office, but I continued to work during the day and looked after the stock business in the evenings."

"The company was incorporated in the spring of 1915. In May, 1917, we moved into larger quarters. The company continued to make money. In July, 1917, I quit work at the pottery and devoted my entire time to the company."

"We installed the board and began dealing in margins in December, 1917. Up to that time we had bought stocks outright and had made good. We paid 15 per cent dividends on the par value of the stock, which was $10 a share."

"Did you actually earn this dividend?" asked the attorney.

"Yes. We had about $113,000 in holdings, the market value of which was about $72,000. We had about $4,000 in bank also. We made money the first few months the board was in, but when stocks went off we began to lose."

The witness stated that the assets continued to dwindle until they had reached about $25,000 in March, 1919.

Question—"What had become of the money?"

Answer—"Lost through margins." The dwindling of the business was described by Mr. Feustel until the maximum came when a telegram was received from a Cleveland broker demanding $20,000 at once to cover margins. It was not sent. A directors' meeting was called and "the next rock we struck," said Feustel, "was the dividends. Some of the directors claimed that we ought to pay a dividend in order to keep up the credit of the company, but I opposed this."

After the condition of the company was known to be bad Feustel admitted that they had sold about $18,000 worth of stock. All told about $144,000 worth of stock was sold.

In the year 1918 dividends to the amount of $32,000 were paid to stockholders. There was a condition in the bylaws that any one could withdraw their stock on 30 days notice, said Feustel, but this was changed for the reason that some parties got to buying stock a few days before dividend time and then demanded their money back for the stock.

VIOLATED GAME LAW, IS FINED

Deputy Game Warden Toot of Lisbon went to Salem Tuesday and arrested Louis Lather on the charge of killing skunks out of season. When taken before Justice H. N. Loop at Salem, Lather pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs, a total of $28.80. He was prosecuted upon one charge,

LABOR GROUP SEEKS LEADER

Gompers' Illness Forces Selection of Spokesman at Industrial Conference.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The labor group facing the crisis of the conference went into President Wilson's industrial conference today minus their leader, Samuel Gompers, whose illness is considered grave by the members of the labor group.

Gompers' absence from the conference room caused the labor group immediately to hold a secret meeting, to select a spokesman and to decide upon a plan of action.

At the same time members of the public group were in deep consultation in reference to the position they should take on the Gompers' resolution demanding immediate arbitration of the steel strike. It was learned that representatives of the public held a meeting at 8 o'clock this morning and found the group hopelessly divided on the question of steel strike arbitration. Several of the group are openly opposed to the Gompers' resolution; others believe that arbitration under the circumstances is a fair proposal, while still others, headed by Dr. Chas. W. Elliot, hold that the conference should ignore the resolution entirely and proceed to general discussion of the industrial situation.

MOULDRUNNERS ARE ORGANIZED

Workers Will Seek Affiliation with N. B. of O. P.

Organization of mould runners and batters-out employed in the potteries of the East Liverpool district will be completed at a meeting of the trade next Tuesday night in the Old Opera House building, East Sixth street.

At a meeting held early this week, Thomas Ball was elected president of the organization, Harry Bennett secretary and Dewey Bennett, assistant secretary. Other officers will be named at the next meeting.

An effort will be made to enroll at least 75 per cent of the batters out and mould runners of the district in the organization prior to applying for admittance into the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters. There are over 500 men employed in the two trades in this district.

be staged entirely at night, beginning shortly before 7 o'clock.

The city will erect a large stand in Broadway, probably near the Croxall Chemical building, where the slope in the street forms a natural amphitheater. On this stand the boxing match, which has been left in the hands of Chief of Police Hugh McDermott to arrange, will be staged. A band concert, tentatively planned as a feature of the event, will be rendered from this same stand. Additional street lights, installed at the city's expense, will brilliantly illuminate Broadway, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

of labor's invitation to attend a conference in the capital was dispatched this morning by Mr. Lewis. Thomas T. Brewster, president of the Coal Operators' association, also is expected to attend the conference, at which the government hopes the controversy may be adjusted. The conference has been scheduled for tomorrow, but Lewis telegraphed he could not reach Washington before Friday.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 15.—Representatives of all the labor unions in Pennsylvania will meet in Pittsburgh on Nov. 1 and 2 to consider the question of a state-wide sympathetic strike to aid the steel workers.

Calls for the meeting were issued in Harrisburg today by James H. Maurer, president of the State Federation of Labor. Mr. Maurer said that plans for the formation of a labor party in the state would also be considered.

The strikers' leaders today found themselves blocked in their fight for an investigation of magistrates and police officers, who, it is alleged, have discriminated against steel strikers. The petition resulted in a deadlock of city council, four members favoring and four opposing.

In the last 24 hours several new hot mills and furnaces have been added to the number already in operation in the Pittsburgh district proper.

Restlessness among the strikers because of the non-payment of strike benefits is reported from sections. Many of the men have received no money for last week's idleness.

A break in the strikers' ranks at Johnstown, where the big Cambria plant has been closed tight ever since the first day of the walkout, was threatened today. Several hundred foreigners voted that unless there was some action at Washington soon they would return to work.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15.—Lieut. W. R. Taylor, in plane No. 101, escaped disqualification in the air derby by 30 minutes today.

MINEOLA, L. I., Oct. 15.—Two neck and neck air races to the Pacific Coast were in prospect at Roosevelt field here today while mechanics were busily engaged in tuning up the motors of the trans-continental planes.

All the coast flyers expect to make much better time on the return trip. The weather was more favorable today and they now have the advantage of knowing the route.

Captain Lowell Smith, piloting a De Havilland-four, expected to have his motor in shape to get away by 2 p.m. Major Carl Spatz expected to have his Bluebird ready about the same time. There is keen rivalry between the coast pilots to be the first to land on the home field in California.

Two more coast flyers will not get away until tomorrow because of motor difficulties. Lieut. Emil Kiel's De Havilland-four and Lieut. L. S. Worthington's S. E.-5 will be ready about the same time tomorrow.

Captain Smith said he had a good chance to get to California before Lieut. Maynard gets back to New York.

KILN PLACERS BACK ON JOB

Following an adjustment reached by the Western Standing committee Tuesday afternoon, decorating kiln placers and firemen at the plants of the Homer Laughlin China company who resigned their places a few days ago, returned to work Wednesday morning.

Between 25 and 30 men employed at the trade tendered their two weeks' notice to the company short time ago following a wage disagreement. The matter was presented to the Western Standing committee at a special meeting Tuesday afternoon. Kilnmen are affiliated with the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and were affected by the general wage increase granted in the new biennial wage agreement.

A meeting of the labor committee of the U. S. Potters' Association was called at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning in the Potters' club rooms.

A few girls in East Liverpool potteries who walked out to strengthen the strike in the Newell and East End plants of the Homer Laughlin China company returned to work Wednesday. No change in the situation developed Wednesday at the affected plants of the Laughlin concern. Girls are still out at the river road potteries it was reported Wednesday.

WILSON GETS NIGHT'S REST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Wilson enjoyed another good night's rest and although he had a slight headache today, his condition continues to improve, according to the official bulletin this afternoon from the white house by Rear Admirals Cary T. Grayson and E. R. Stitt and Dr. Sterling Ruffin. The trouble which caused a night of restlessness on Monday did not occur during the night, it was stated.

The text and bulletin follows: "The president had a good night's rest, enjoyed his breakfast and aside from a slight headache, continues to make improvement. The condition which caused the restlessness of Monday night, and about which Dr. Fowler was consulted, gave no trouble during the night." (Signed) "Grayson, Ruffin, Stitt."

MORE MEN GO BACK TO WORK

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 15.—It was officially announced today by the Carnegie Steel company that a blast furnace and three open hearth furnaces are in operation at the Ohio works. They claimed foreigners were reporting in goodly numbers. This is the first move to operate at this plant since the strike was called. Every plant in the valley is now reported as operating on a small basis.

Figures obtained from observers and pickets would indicate that about 3,500 men or 25 per cent of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube force was at work.

Small gains were claimed at the plants of the Brier Hill and Republic Iron and Steel companies. The Sharon Steel Hoop plant opened up today with one open hearth furnace in operation.

Quiet prevails throughout the strike zones.

SAFETY FIRST DRIVE PLANNED

The national railroad accident prevention drive will begin officially at 12:01 o'clock Saturday morning, October 18, on all the railroads in the country and will continue until midnight, October 31, it was announced by officials of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh division at Wellsville Wednesday.

Meetings were held at many of the shops and terminal points on the railroads entering Pittsburgh and Cleveland Monday and Tuesday.

A message received by C. E. Lodge, general passenger agent at Wellsville from Cleveland officials of the road, notified him Wednesday that a special train will be operated from Wellsville to Cleveland, comprising six or eight cars for the accommodation of employees between Wellsville and Cleveland. At Cleveland they will hear a lecture on the ideals of the campaign for preservation of life and limb and the elimination of carelessness in daily duties. Mr. Lodge will probably make the trip, together with as many section men and contractors as can be taken. The special train leaves Wellsville at 5 o'clock on the morning of Friday, October 17, arriving in Cleveland at 8:30 o'clock. It will leave Cleveland at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Stops will be made at all way points on both trips, announced Mr. Lodge.

To reach the top place in the final reckoning the railroad men of this division will have to extend every effort to prevent even a minor accident from the minute the campaign opens till the close. The drive is being conducted under the auspices of the United States railroad administration and is the first of its kind ever attempted. Several individual roads have conducted safety campaigns and their successes have promoted federal authorities to hold a general campaign in which every road would be in competition with every other road.

419 EGGS FROM 20 HENS IN 30 DAYS

Mr. Dougherty Got This Result In October. Plan Is Easily Tried.

I tried Don Sung and the results were far past my expectations. I got 419 eggs in 30 days from 20 hens while moulting. I think this is wonderful, as they hardly laid at all before while moulting."—Frank Dougherty, 5940 E. 11th St., Indianapolis.

Mr. Dougherty bought $1 worth of Don Sung tablets in October and wrote the above letter in November. "Picture him profit on 36 dozen eggs from hens that formerly laid little or nothing."

This may sound too good to be true, but it costs nothing to find out. We'll make you the same offer we made him.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, tell us and your money will be promptly refunded.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION.

With the municipal election less than three weeks distant—the date is Tuesday, Nov. 4—all indications point to an overwhelming victory for the Republican ticket.

Apparently recognizing the hopelessness of their cause in view of the splendid record made by Mayor J. S. Wilson's administration, the Democratic party was unable to trot out sufficient candidates to fill its ticket. But six members of the party sought nomination at the primaries.

Seldom, if ever, has East Liverpool witnessed a more business-like administration of municipal affairs than during the past 21 months, when Mayor Wilson has been occupying the office of chief executive. Benefiting by many years of experience in conducting a private business and aided by his knowledge of public affairs obtained during his assumption of the service and safety directorships in previous years, Mayor Wilson adopted a system which proved of a decided advantage in the conduct of the office with which the electors of East Liverpool honored him two years ago.

Besides exercising good judgment in all matters in which the interests of the city were involved, he has made it a rule to collect fines assessed in police court. No favoritism has been played in this respect. And consequently, he established during his first year in office a high mark for collection of money due the city. More than $7,000 was deposited in the city treasury in 1918 as a result of his efforts.

And another important innovation introduced by Mayor Wilson in police court business was the filing of charges so far as possible under city ordinances instead of the state law, in order that fines accruing would go to the credit of the city. Too often in the past, mayors made a bid for fees through the practice of filing charges under the provisions of the General Code. This custom was tabooed by the present administration.

Like the mayor, other officials seeking re-election on the Republican ticket are deserving of recognition. From top to bottom, the G. O. P. ticket in the municipal election is made up of men who merit the support of the electors. And every man is well qualified for the post he seeks.

SAVE THE CHILDREN.

A coroner's jury, after hearing the testimony concerning the death of a four-months' old baby in Moorpark, Calif., wrote into its verdict the following suggestion:

"We recommend the establishment of a child welfare department in and for Ventura county."

The baby had died from lack of proper food and care. Its twin had died two months previously, and the mother had died when the babies were born. There had been no medical attendance. After the mother's death neighbors had taken the infants in and cared for them in an indifferent way due more to ignorance and poverty than to lack of good intentions.

The family concerned was a Mexican family. The case was not isolated but was indicative of a condition of general misery and poverty. In such surroundings many children must die, and those who live do not have proper care for bodily and mental health.

The jury suddenly became aware of the horror of such a state of affairs, and of the danger to the communal well-being. If the people from that Mexican settlement are ever to become helpful citizens instead of a menace to the health and decency of the community, it is certainly up to the local authorities to do something about it.

In East Liverpool, cases such as pointed out by this coroner's jury are handled by the civilian relief section of the Red Cross.

FARMERS AND LABOR UNIONS.

The farmers have no quarrel with organized labor, and are in full sympathy with its legitimate aims, but they feel a little dubious about the more radical measures which involve the production-stopping strike, the decreased working hours and no discrimination in wages for efficiency.

Figures carefully gathered have proved that the average farmer after paying his expenses receives for his personal labors, a lower wage than is demanded by most unskilled union workers at trades in the city. Yet the farmer must work on in the face of rising cost of production, or what would be the result?

Moreover, the continued forcing of wages in town is having its effect upon the farm wage. As an editorial in the Country Gentleman points out: "Under present conditions farm wages are 'sky-high' and still going up. Three, four and five dollars a day and board—and why not, when masons are getting eight dollars and the only qualification is the possession of a union card? But if these prices are to prevail on the land, what about the cost of food? If the farmer pays these wages, then food will of necessity go up because of the increased price of production. If he refuses to hire, and gets along by himself, then he will produce less, and prices will rise from sheer scarcity."

Perhaps a better understanding of the real situation on the farm would lead to a better adjustment of the labor problem in the cities.

Any man or organization which carries on in a town a continual warfare for increased wages without planning definitely also for increased production, or without demanding efficiency in the worker, is at the same time forcing at the very source of his supplies a situation which in itself prevents the solution of his troubles. He is biting the hand that feeds him.

The war department says: "The accident of war and the process of demobilization are at an end." But if the world does not settle down before long, it may prove that demobilization was the accident, and likely to be fatal at that.

Robert Maddox, president of the American Association of Bankers, says that bankers should enter politics. Sounds fair enough. We are always hearing that there is a lot of money in politics.

NEW YORK LETTER

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Christopher Street is down near the ferryboat landing and most of the folk make their living along the river-front. It is a city of its own and the language is the patois of the docks. The men are great physical hulks, raw boned and square shouldered and many of them have been around the Horn on windjammers and felt the impact of the belaying pin.

There is a kindly gruff camaraderie among the men and grunting respectfulness toward their women, many of whom never saw uptown New York or the Woolworth building not so far away. The stevedore wants his woman to stay home and about her only amusement is the movie.

Christopher Street has evolved the most neighborly movie in the world perhaps. There is a tiny, shabby little movie place in the heart of one of the tenement blocks. The manager is a genius. Suddenly the progress of the slapstick comedy reel is interrupted.

The farce is broken by a patch of static white. And across this shining blank appears these words, in hasty scrawl:

"Mrs. Sol Smith—The ice man is at your house."

A tired woman rises from her seat and hurries up the aisle and out to her flat to receive the ice. Again there will be a message with a picture to illustrate it. A baby's head and the cryptic words:

"Mrs. Lyvinski—Outside."

It means that baby Lyvinski is unmanageable. Nobody pays any attention to the interruptions. Even the other night the following message did nothing but stir a slight ripple of applause:

"Erick Stengard—You have just been made the proud father of a son. Go home." Erick who was laughing heartily at a fat man getting a custard pie in his eye, sobered down and lumbered out. And one learns from the ambient chatter that Erick is already the father of nine.

The door-taker greets him with "Another eh Erick" as he goes out and Erick has the same bashful smile of happiness that a proud papa has for the first time.

There is a man in our town whose business it is to measure several million blades of grass. No blade may be more than two inches long. His name is Henry Fabian and he is the veteran groundkeeper at Polo Grounds home of the New York Giants and Yankees. Fabian has been building baseball diamonds and minding them for the past twenty years—since he quit being a professional baseball player. It is his business to see that the grass never shall be too long to impede speed afoot or the speed of a batted ball. Perhaps you did not know it but it is true that a fraction of an inch in the length of the grass could decide an issue, maybe upon which the whole nation hangs breathless. But it is so.

The suggestion to import Chinese labor during the present industrial readjustment has not met with any favor here. Statisticians report that as a consequence of national prohibition more than 2,000,000 working men are planning to leave for Europe as soon as they can go. This will temporarily cause big shortage in labor and several big employers of labor in New York urged that Chinese be brought here for a limited period—but judging from the protests sent to the newspapers the idea will not be carried out.

A prominent New York lawyer has told a patron of a big hotel that the cover charge is illegal and that he will not have to pay it. The patron happened to be a newspaperman who represented the injustice and refused to pay the gouge. The hotel has sent him bills and threatened suit and the patrons invite the suit—but the hotel evidently knows that it has no just claim.

FROM A CLEAR SKY

BY AGNES C. BROGAN

Rosalia walked beside the tangled hedges of roses in her garden and looked wistfully up and down the road.

"Reckon," she said, "we may as well give up looking for some one to come or something to happen Susan, we've been looking a good many years."

The black cat who was the lone little woman's only companion, answered by a sympathizing purr.

"Seems," Rosalia went on, "that we ought to get over expecting. If anything new or pleasant had been coming our way, it would have come when the old house was fresh, when father tended the rose vines and kept them neat, when carriages drove past our door with happy folks coming to town for holiday, or stopping in to visit."

Rosalia sank down upon a grassy mound and drew the cat into her lap, silent with her memories.

"Carriages come no more down our quiet lane," she told the cat, "it's autos now, great whirling autos flying along the great white road."

Rosalia rose to her feet smiling whimsically upward, "anything that will come our way these days, puss, must drop from out a clear sky." And as the woman stood gazing absently upward, a whirling sound coming not from the main road, rent the air. Then she saw it—the wonder thing with the outspread wings of a monster bird sweeping the sky. And before Rosalia could catch her astonished breath, the wonder thing circled, drooped, and still circling, came crashing toward her own neglected garden.

Like a throbbing monster it lay in the wide space beyond the rose hedge; and Rosalia, trembling, rushed to a man who frantically beckoned from its side. He was a young man and deadly white.

"You'd better get someone," he gasped, "to help carry me inside. Nothing but a broken bone, I guess—awful jar, but made landing—in time." Then the man of the airplane fainted. When she returned with the assurance that help would soon come, the young man turned upon the cushions she propped about him.

"It's probably nothing to worry about," he said slowly, "but you never can tell. Might be internal injury. So I wondered—if you'd be kind enough—to write a sort of—message to a girl. You could mail it to her from me in case—" he smiled faintly, "Well, in either case," he said.

So Rosalia brought her best note-paper, and seated herself close to the great broken bird, which had soared toward the sky.

"Yes," she prompted.

"Begin it," the man said steadily. "Dearest," that includes everything."

"Dearest," Rosalia wrote, and waited. "Today only, do I dare to tell you that which has long been in my heart, I love you. Always, I think I have loved you—" She still waited as he lay with closed eyes apparently thinking.

Rosalia was thinking also. She had wished for something to happen. Something miraculous had happened, the 'something' had darted into her solitude from out a clear sky. Romance itself, was close to her, and she, as usual, but an onlooker. She thought of this dearest 'girl' far away, wondering if she had listened wearily for a step that never came back. But the 'Dearest girl' did not live, she was sure, in an old house set far back from the road, where briars and cares grew thick, to screen and choke young life. The dearest girl's lover had not gone away years before. He was a young lover still. Neither had heartless parents sent him abroad to finish a medical education, killing romance—country romance they had called it, with one blow. And after twenty-five years the memory of that broken romance still had power to bring a mist to Rosalia's blue eyes.

He had married—her own lover of long ago—a gay creature abroad, who had not lived long enough to return with her husband to his home. And when he had returned, taking up in later years his father's practice of medicine, Rosalia kept resolutely and proudly out of his way.

As an auto rounded the curve, she jumped apprehensively to her feet and hurried into the house. It was the same step she remembered, which now crossed the porch, as the doctor carried the aviator upon his own broad back. The same confident laugh which echoed back from her sitting room.

Presently the doctor sought her out. "We shall need you," he said, but his eyes were upon her, as he talked with his patient.

And later when Rosalia and her lover of long ago stood together beside the airplane in the garden, the doctor bent to pick up a piece of paper.

"Dearest," he read, "today only, do I dare to tell you that which has long been in my heart, I love you. Always, I think, I have loved you."

He turned, as he was leaving, to put the paper into Rosalia's hand.

"I will come again this evening," he said.

And as she would have continued the young lover's letter, she saw beneath her own handwriting a hastily added line:

"This is my message to you, Rosalia, the message I, myself, would have written."

And when the moon shone through the old house windows at evening, she found herself again listening for a step.

"BILL" NYE, OF SECRET SERVICE STOPPED BY GUARD

BOSTON.—"Bill" Nye, veteran of the Federal Secret Service, who has guarded Presidents for many years, "held up" by a state guardsman while the clever detective was guarding white King Albert of Belgium on his visit to Boston.

"I'm in charge of this party," Nye replied.

But Nye had to wait, with a bayonet close to his chest, until a lieutenant of the guards came up and permitted him to pass.

CHESTER MILL IS OPERATING

Although officials of the Chester works of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company, issued emphatic denial Wednesday that the local plant was being effected by the strike order, put into effect at the plant Sunday evening, leaders of the strike movement here stated that operations were crippled.

The company announced Wednesday morning that all of the eight hot mills and 13 stacks in the tin house were operating. One of the stacks is closed, the mill officials claim, on account of repairs, although strikers declare men used in the tinning department have been shifted to the hot mills.

The men who answered the strike order are considered discharged and others have been secured to fill their places, it is announced. These men were paid off Tuesday and their names stricken from the company's payroll, according to the management.

Steel Workers' Organizer William Coates and John Moran, of the Wheeling district, who are in charge of the striking in Chester, Wednesday denied that strikers were "paid off in full" by the mill management Tuesday. "The men still have back pay coming," said the organizers.

General Manager T. R. Timothy has announced that no "outsiders" have been brought into the mill yet, the places of those who went out on strike being filled from a waiting list, who are known as "extras."

STRIKE APPEAL IGNORED BY POTTERY WORKERS

The plea of the warehouse brushers and the dippers helpers' to the girls employed in the two Chester potteries—the Taylor, Smith and Taylor and the Edwin M. Knowles plant—fell on deaf ears, Tuesday when a committee came to this city to call out the girls. But four girls, two in each shop, responded to the requests of the committee to join the strike.

Most of the girls employed as brushers and helpers to the dippers are organized and affiliated with the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and for this reason they cannot legally strike. Both plants were operating as usual on Wednesday, officials of the company reported.

REV. REYNOLDS RETURNS FROM PRESBYTERY MEET

Rev. Paul E. Reynolds, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Chester has returned home from Toronto, O., where he attended a meeting of the Steubenville Presbytery, called for the purpose of discussing the "New World Movement." The convention came to a close Tuesday afternoon.

A series of three conferences are to be held at three places in the Steubenville Presbytery on November 13 and 14. The United Presbyterian churches of East Liverpool, Salineville and Steubenville were selected as the places for these conferences. The East Liverpool meeting will be held on November 14.

Following the discussion of the movement at these conferences the visitors will be tendered a banquet by a committee from the churches in which the meetings are held. Syndical leaders will discuss the "New World Movement" at each meeting.

Representatives from the Chester church will attend the East Liverpool meeting.

Both the Senate and House of Delegates chambers were utilized for the examination.

OCT. 27 IS "ROOSEVELT DAY" IN THIS STATE

Monday, October 27 will be observed as "Roosevelt Day" in West Virginia according to a proclamation which has just been issued by Gov. John J. Cornwell. On this day, West Virginia will make an effort to raise her quota of the National Roosevelt Memorial Fund.

"In these days," Governor Cornwell says in his proclamation "when alien philosophies are finding lodgment in the minds of those who take short cuts to wealth and who would over-ride our laws and tear down our institutions to recall and emphasize the patriotism and the Americanism of Theodore Roosevelt will furnish inspiration to all of us."

MRS. WILLIAM CARROLL IS KILLED IN FALL

Sheriff Armour S. Cooper of New Cumberland is in Youngstown attending the funeral services over the body of his sister, Mrs. William Carroll, who died Tuesday morning as the result of injuries sustained in a fall last Sunday.

The deceased, who was 50 years of age, was the wife of Dr. William Carroll. Her condition had been gradually growing worse since the accident. She is well known in Hancock county, having often visited her brother at New Cumberland.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Carroll is survived by her mother, Mrs. E. W. Cooper of Toronto, and four brothers Edward of Toronto, Hay of Wheeling, Charles of Wellsville and Sheriff Cooper of New Cumberland.

BIG GRID GAME AT BURGETTSTOWN FRIDAY

With but one defeat of the season registered against it, the New Cumberland high school is making preparations for the game with Burgettstown high eleven next Friday afternoon at Burgettstown. Thus far the county seat gridiron team has played three games, Steubenville having the distinction of being the only eleven to win.

The West Liberty Normal school fell victims of the county seat boys at New Cumberland last Saturday, 60 to 0. The West Liberty eleven was no match for the New Cumberland boys.

The normal school eleven was much heavier than the high school boys but due to the fact that this is the first year that West Liberty has had a football team, the men lacked training. Simon, the star quarterback for New Cumberland, and Cowl, at half, scored most of New Cumberland's points. Simon is picked by some as one of the best back-field men in West Virginia scholastic circles.

Final enactment of the ordinance which provides for the awarding of the city's light contract to the West Penn Power company will probably occur at the regular meeting of city council, Thursday evening. This ordinance has already been passed on first and second readings and it will be taken up for final consideration at Thursday night's session.

The new contract which will replace the one held by the East Liverpool Traction and Light company provides for the installation of 80 additional arc lights. The work of installation will start as soon as the necessary legislation is enacted.

A number of other important matters will be taken up for consideration at the meeting including the proposed purchase of the city fire station. This property is owned at the present time by C. A. Smith, who has offered it for sale at a reasonable figure.

PARCEL POST SHIPMENTS OF FOOD ON WAY

Orders for army foodstuffs, placed by Chester residents about six weeks ago are enroute to this city now, according to information which has been sent to Postmaster W. B. Stewart. They are expected to arrive here within the next few days.

Because some of the supplies offered by the government had been depleted before the orders from this city could be filled, several of the orders will not be complete. Postmaster Stewart was advised by army officers in charge of the sales at Zone 7, Chicago.

In such cases of where the full order is not received, refund checks will be forwarded to the purchasers.

DEHNER IS NAMED ON CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE

Carl Dehner, delegate of Lodge No. 245, I. O. O. F., to the annual Grand Lodge meeting of the West Virginia Odd Fellows, has been made a member of the Centennial committee, according to word received here yesterday.

The convention opened Tuesday morning in the Thompson M. E. church. In the afternoon the visiting delegates were taken for an automobile ride over the city. A theatre party was held in the evening for the benefit of the visiting lodges and lodge ladies.

The annual election of officers will occur at a session on Wednesday. L. R. Crago of Wheeling seems to be the most likely candidate for the office of Grand Warden.

The Daughters of Rebekah, who are also meeting in Wheeling, conferred the Grand Assembly degree upon a large class of candidates on Tuesday. Among those receiving this degree was Julia McMath of Chester. The annual business session of the Rebekahs took place Wednesday morning.

In the afternoon degree work, exemplified by contesting degree staves, was put on.

CALL OFF MEET AT WEIRTON

The proposed mass meeting of strikers in the Weirton mills, which was to have been held Tuesday evening, was called off, pending the receipt of some word on public meetings from Gov. John J. Cornwell, who has been asked to give his approval of such affairs.

Mr. Peters, chairman of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Plate workers for the local district, and organizer of the steel workers, made the following statement at Wheeling Tuesday concerning the Weirton meeting:

"We do not wish to antagonize the state officials in any way over the Weirton situation so the meeting has been called off until we have heard something from the governor. We have sent him a letter asking that the right of free speech be granted to the Weirton strikers. There has been no trouble thus far in the local district and we do not intend to start any, but our rights as Americans must not be denied us. We have offered to send a committee to see the governor

BIG MUSICAL SHOW AT CERAMIC WEDNESDAY

If you don't want to go to your work "the morning after" whistling the tune full number in Jimmie Hodges' new show, don't go see "Broadway Jimmie" at the Ceramic Wednesday.

Nobody who has seen the latest creation of his latest musical show has escaped the magic of the haunting melodies used in his new production. You will hear the phonographs and the player pianos grinding it out as you pass the music stores. The street car conductors will whistle a snatch of some number as he collects your fare or your chauffeur will crank your car to the tune of some number used in the big revue. After a while you will begin to get aggravated, then, you will become decidedly exasperated, until, in an unguarded moment, you will find yourself doing it. Then you will get in good humor again and join the geyety of the city and of the nation.

George Twyman, Rene Vincent, Betty De Sales, Mary Farrell, Verna Elliot, Allie Hodges and Joe McGee will all render numbers in "Broadway Jimmie", assisted by the famous Jimmie Hodges' "Dixie Chorus".

On Thursday, that big musical success "The Flirt" will be the offering of the Jimmie Hodges Company.

FAMO is a medicine for the hair, and should be used as a medicine at least every morning.

Americans have been, and are, notoriously neglectful of both their teeth and their hair.

Result—the almost universal prevalence of the twin scourges—pyorrhea and seborrhea.

Seborrhea is the deadly germ that kills the hair, and only by keeping after it with FAMO can you save your hair and make it grow.

FAMO does grow new hair, even when people are careless and apply it infrequently.

IN NAVY 21 YEARS

One Hundred Thousand Gobs Needed for Naval Service.

On an inspection tour of all recruiting stations in the northern Ohio district, Lieut. G. R. Veed, head of the United States navy recruiting office in Cleveland, visited the East Liverpool station. Little building, Tuesday.

Lieut. Veed has supervision over recruiting activities in the entire northern Ohio district which embraces the cities of Cleveland, Akron, Canton, Youngstown, Ashtabula, Sandusky, Lorain and East Liverpool. He left the main office in Cleveland a week ago and has visited Youngstown, Ashtabula, Akron and Canton.

Lieut. Veed has only been assigned to the recruiting service about four months. He has been in the navy 21 years, shipping as an apprentice seaman and winning a commission from the ranks. He is a veteran of two American wars, the Spanish-American and the world war. During the recent war Lieut. Veed was attached to the general submarine force stationed in European waters. He served on the United States submarine K-5 and also aboard the United States cruiser Chicago when that vessel was on convoy duty.

The United States navy is 100,000 men short at the present time," Lieut. Veed declared Tuesday. "An intensive publicity campaign is being conducted through the newspapers and by recruiting officers throughout the country in an effort to meet this shortage by the first of the year. Enlistments in the navy have been extended to two, three and four-year periods and there is no reason why the navy should not be enlisted to full strength within the next few months."

Southern Russia.

A CAT may look at a king and a simple, uneducated sailor may receive the homage of royalty at the banquet board of a queen. This is the story of one who did.

Members of the erstwhile royal house of Russia, except the immediate family of the Czar, who owe their lives to an untutored sailor guard, include Marie, queen mother and widow of Alexander III.; the Grand Dukes Nicholas, former commander-in-chief of the Russian army, and Peter Nicholas, uncle of the Czar, the Princesses Xenia and Olga, sisters of the Czar, and the Princess Irene, wife of Prince Youssouffoff, who killed Rasputin, the so-called evil genius of the Czar's household. The Princess Irene, daughter of the Grand Duke Alexander, is a niece of the former Czar.

The story of this loyalty to the Russians and to members of the imperial family by a widely recognized Bolshevik who was given great power over the "enemy" has been brought to this country by Gleb Derujinsky, a well known artist and sculptor of Russia.

When the Bolsheviks invaded South Russia this year young Derujinsky escaped to Constantinople and there took passage on a Russian commercial ship to New York. For more than a year the young sculptor lived on the Crimean estates of Prince Youssouffoff. Because of ill health Derujinsky had been rejected by the Russian army. He said that he held an order from Prince Youssouffoff for the execution of some fountains and other pieces of art to grace the prince's handsome country estate.

A short time after he had electrified Russia by murdering Rasputin, whom he believed to be a traitor to the country, the young Prince Youssouffoff with his wife went to live on their estate in the Crimea. It joined the handsome country homes of the imperial family. In all, more than 20 big estates with their splendid palaces occupied this district, which Phillip the sailor guard, although a revolutionist himself, protected against mob attacks time and again during his few months of guardianship there.

Phillip Made Commissioner

In November, 1917, after the mutiny of Russian sailors at Sebastopol and the establishment of a soviet government there, the young sailor, who is known only as Phillip to his royal prisoners, was appointed by the soviet government as commissioner of the district in which the royal estates were located, about 60 miles from Sebastopol and was given an armed guard of 40 sailors. Fourteen miles away on the road to Sebastopol lay the town of Yalta, and this town, after December, 1918, was also the headquarters of a soviet commissioner who not only was a friend of the sailor guard of royalty, but who also shared his views regarding the taking of human life.

"Such a man was the sailor who kept us prisoners several months," said Derujinsky. "It is because of his loyalty to the Russians and his convictions that no one has a right to take human life, that the royal family are alive today in Europe."

The first order Commissioner Phillip received came in the form of a courier with instructions to seize the jewels of the different families living in this section. Of course this included the jewels of the imperial family. These jewels were priceless, not only for the brilliancy of their beauty and value as rare stones, but for their historic association.

"When the commissioner took over this jewelry he carefully packed it in wooden boxes which he placed in a big vault in one of the royal palaces. He did all this in a most business-like manner. He even gave the owners receipts for their jewels which he also assured them would be returned. Then he notified his superior officers that their orders had been carried out.

"Nevertheless, word of the jewel seizure had passed among the Bolsheviks in this district. And after some days had passed a squad of them came to seize the jewels. But the sailor Phillip proved a match for them.

"I have charge of this district," he told the Bolsheviks. "If I am interfered with in my work here I have enough soldiers at my command to level this place."

"Of course the force of his argument lay in the fact that the Bolsheviks were ignorant of the real strength of the sailor's command. Had they known the truth that only 40 armed men backed up Phillip's threats, they might have acted otherwise. The revolutionists saw that the commissioner was a sturdy guardsman and without much further conversation they rode away.

"A short while after the jewel seizure, another band of Bolsheviks rode to the great bronze gate of the estate of Prince Youssouffoff, and demanding the delivery of the prince and the royal prisoners, challenged again all the quick wit and loyalty of the sailor. Phillip, accompanied by his armed guards, hurried out to meet the intruders.

Foils the Bolsheviks

"Have you an order from the commissioner of Yalta commanding me to turn over these prisoners to you?" inquired the sailor guard with fine diplomatic grace. They had to confess that they did not possess any such authority.

"Well, these are my prisoners," he warned them, "and I will turn them over to no one who does not possess such an order."

"The sailor Phillip told the men to go back to Yalta and ask the commissioner there for such a written order. Disgruntled the intruders decided to go without further ceremony. At once Phillip telephoned to his friend, the commissioner at Yalta, telling him of the circumstances and asking him to make out the order, but to hold it himself. The commissioner cheerfully complied with this request.

"The Bolsheviks returned some days later. The sailor commissioner ordered out his armed guard and told the intruders to leave at once or they would be shot down, as he had no authority to relinquish his royal prisoners. The Bolsheviks decided not to chance an encounter. There was one other occasion when the lives of the Russian royal family were in immediate danger from the Bolsheviks. This time the effort to get possession of the members of former royalty of Russia was made by a group of counter-revolutionists from the north. This occurred in March, 1918.

"As this new group of revolutionists arrived the sailor commissioner introduced his men as studio put at my disposal by the Prince Youssouffoff on his estate. The Princess Youssouffoff asked me to make a bust of Phillip, the sailor commissioner, so that she would have something always to remind her of the great loyalty and the great service of this brave sailor. She also told me that the Dowager Empress, the Czar's mother, wanted a bust of the sailor.

Sailor Poses for Bust

"The next day I began work on the bust, the commissioner consenting to the request made by the Empress to pose for me. The Empress visited my studio on two occasions to see how I was progressing with the bust which I was able to complete. She took a great interest in it.

"In this hard time when loyalty is something to be prized beyond all material reward, our debt to this great hero of the war is something that none of us shall ever be able to repay," she said to me. "His friendship for us is something that makes us feel very close to God. I shall be proud to have this bust of him, for I want all the world and future generations to know what a great hero this war produced in the sailor Commissioner Phillip."

"A few nights later the Empress gave a dinner for the sailor in the great banquet hall of the palace, and this simple soldier who had stood steadfastly against the reign of crime that had swept over his beloved country, was toasted by members of the imperial family.

"Phillip was not very communicative, but during the time he posed for the bust he would often refer to the dangerous circumstances surrounding his work there.

I Do Not Believe in Murder

"But, I reminded him, 'you are a revolutionist.'

"Yes," he frankly explained, "I am. But I am a revolutionary Socialist. I do not believe in murder. No one is entitled to take human life, and these people, here, motioning in the direction of the royal estates, 'have as much right to live as we have.'

"Just before the Germans made their appearance the sailor Phillip went to the vault where he had stored the family jewels and restored them to the various members of the family.

"This is all I can do for you," he told them. "I may be killed, but here is your property, as I said it would be returned to you some day."

"When Prince Reis arrived from Berlin to confer with the members of the Russian royal family and also to offer any assistance, they refused to meet him.

"It was at this time that the sailor commissioner Phillip bade his royal prisoners good-by. It was impressive—that parting. When the soviet government had ordered the commissioner to seize the motor cars of the Russian aristocracy, he obeyed orders, turning the cars over to the authorities, but he kept the best one for himself.

"I need a good machine," he said, "to visit my prisoners and keep watch of these big estates."

"Later he returned this automobile to the royal family. It was in this same car, put at his disposal by the Grand Duke Nicholas, that I accompanied Phillip to Sebastopol. From there he departed for his home."

"When the Bolsheviks again invaded the Crimea this year, the remaining members of the former Russian royal family made their escape to Constantinople, where they found refuge aboard a British battleship."

protectors of the property and rights of the people now living under the soviet government.

"But we have a mandate that gives us the right to the royal prisoners here," said the leader.

"Well," retorted the sailor Phillip, refusing to be bluffed, "my mandate is my revolver, and I am not afraid to use it."

"The revolutionists were in an ugly mood and for several minutes it looked as though all the work the sailor commissioner had done in the protection of life and property was about to end. But as on former occasions of a similar dangerous nature, he rose to the emergency."

"Lucky for the royal family that they had so brave a guardsman!"

"Shortly after this many rumors were afloat that aroused our hopes anew for speedy deliverance. We waited patiently day after day for almost a month. I continued my work in a big

CITY PLANS TO SEEK SEPERATE HEALTH BOARD

East Liverpool Has Right Under Hughes Health Act.

WILL FILE APPLICATION

County Board Prepares Budget Calling for $40,000.

While preparations are gradually being completed for the establishment of a county health board when the new Hughes Health act becomes operative the first of the year, definite assurances were given Wednesday that East Liverpool will seek the right to remain an independent health district in itself.

Under the new state law, only cities of 25,000 in population or more can retain their present health organization. Cities of less than 25,000 will be given special consideration by the state health commissioner if it can be shown that they have equipment and resources of such character as to insure the proper fulfilling of their obligations to the community.

East Liverpool's bacteriological and chemical paraphernalia compares favorably with similar equipment in cities of larger population in Ohio, J. T. Croxall, president of the board of health asserted Wednesday. A request will be filed before the first of the year with the state health commissioner seeking to place East Liverpool in a separate district, it was stated.

A tentative budget calling for appropriations totalling $40,000 has been drawn up by the new county health board in anticipation of the establishment of the board January 1st. The budget is signed by J. E. Schaffer, Salem, president; W. L. Armstrong, Lisbon, secretary and J. T. Croxall, J. M. King, R. M. Swartz and C. J. Halverstadt. Here is the budget:

But This and Other Distressing Ills Soon Surrender to Nerv-Worth.

This exceedingly strong statement was made a few days ago at J. Lohs' torter's drug store, Port Huron, Mich., by Mrs. Agnes Wilson, wife of a well-known brickmason, John M. Wilson: Nerv-Worth Co.—I find Nerv-Worth just the proper medicine for nervous indigestion and a bad stomach. Food soured in my stomach, causing a foul breath and a bad taste in my mouth. My appetite was very poor and I was nervous and restless at night. The little sleep I did get seemed to be not restful.

Since taking some of your Nerv-Worth I have improved in every way. Have a good appetite, sleep fine and get up in the morning feeling rested. I thank you for Nerv-Worth.

MORE GIRLS GO BACK TO WORK

The strike of the warehouse brushers and the dippers' helpers, so far as affecting Newell, was somewhat improved again on Tuesday, more of the girls returning to work.

The Edwin M. Knowles pottery, which has been one of the plants of the district to be affected by the strike was operating Tuesday, and according to the management, practically all of the girls who went out there last week are again back at their benches. The dipping departments, however, still remain idle at the two Homer Laughlin plants.

A report in circulation in Newell says most of the girls are considering returning to their work within the next day or so. The girls Tuesday afternoon denied this rumor.

Wholesale Rumors of Changes
In Leagues Making
Rounds.

TWO STORIES SQUELCHED
New Hand at Helm of Pirates
Next Year Seems Assured.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—It's kind of already for winter sports, but there are signs of early activity in the "stove league" which keeps the national pastime alive during the snow period.

The favorite occupation of picking new managers for the 1920 season started before the curtain had fallen on this year's championship race. As usual there are wholesale rumors of changes in the leagues and the personnel of the various clubs.

President Heydler, of the National league, put his foot on the throat of the yarn that the St. Louis Cards franchise was to be turned over to Minneapolis interests and the Boston Braves club was to be run farther up north to Montreal. Rumors of a change in the ownership of the Chicago Cubs have also fallen by the way. Frank Chance recently announced in Los Angeles that he and Barney Oldfield had been in the notion of buying the Cub team but had changed their minds.

New Pirate Chief Certain.

A new hand at the helm of the Pitts burg Pirates next season seems almost assured. Hugo Bezdek will go back to Penn State to take charge of athletics according to reports and he will be succeeded as boss of the Pirates by George Gibson, the old popular backstop of the club. Bezdek's work didn't please the Smoky City fans. His connection with various collegiate sports gave him the theory that physique was the only requisite for a ball player and that he could take a husky, well built chap and make a ball player out of him like they do around the college campus with football and track material.

Another change agreed upon as sure by the dopesters would transfer the reins of the New York Yankees from the hands of Miller Huggins to Wilbert Robinson, the Dodger boss. Rob is said to be content with his present job as far as relations go but he has his eyes on larger pay slips and the Ebbets syndicate can't pay him as much as the wealthy colonels could afford for a man who would make a champion team out of the Yankees.

Long for First Love.
Huggins hasn't been a howling success as pilot of the Yankees. The showing the American leagues made this year was a distinct disappointment to the Gotham fans who early in the season had visions of a world's series played straight through on the Polo grounds. Huggins didn't get himself in wrong with the club owners by his failure to land the pennant, but the little leader is said to be longing for his old love—the National league.

Some of the fans are predicting that the Dodgers and the Yankees might switch managers before the teams hike off to the training grounds next spring.

There seems to be little foundation to the rumor that Jawn J. McGraw is going to retire from the management of the Giants and Pat Moran will certainly try to repeat with the Reds unless Garry Herrmann and company pull a "Baker" and give the Irishman his walking papers. Stalings is slated for a removal from the bridge of the Brave bark and Ed Barrow seems to be in "dutch" also with the Hub fans.

True Speaker covered himself with glory during his late season drive with the Indians and he will no doubt get a long term parchment from Owner Jim Dunn. If Connie Mack develops anything out of several score of infants that he has on the club roll he may return to the good graces of the Quaker City fans.

Bob Higgins.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Comes word from Burdington, N. C., from John Ellis, local Greek wrestler, who is now traveling with the Mighty Paris Exposition Shows, that he is in the best of shape and expects to return to East Liverpool in the near future.

Ellis said that he was wrestling Monday in Greensboro, N. C. From Greensboro it was probable that he would go to Boston, Virginia, for his next show. Ellis staged quite a number of matches at the city hall auditorium in Wellsville last winter, winning every bout. None of the wrestlers booked in to grapple with Ellis were really in his class though and as a result the majority of the scraps were rather one-sided. The only challenge that Ellis received that threatened to develop into a real battle was delivered by Jean Mazzan, Italian of Canton, and this came after Ellis had left town to join the show troupe. Ellis saw Mazzan defeat a big Pole from New York at Wellsville and after the match challenged him. Mazzan, claiming that his weight, 220 pounds, was too big an advantage and that he might accidentally cripple Ellis, who tips the beam at about 185 pounds, refused to accept. Ellis, shortly after this, departed, and Mazzan evidently changed his mind for the latter came out with the defi. Ellis didn't answer and probably would have been unable to answer, even if he had known of the challenge.

How Much Tobacco
Will My Heart Stand?

A Question Vital to Every Man Who Smokes or Chews.

It May Cost a Precious Life to Find Out By Experiment.

The heart of every user of tobacco bears a double burden. It does its allotted task and then fights nicotine for supremacy. As long as the heart wins he lives; when it loses he dies, but before the final victory of nicotine you pass through many stages of decline and decay and suffer many pangs. Hearts are like human beings—some, are stronger than others, therefore some hearts will stand more tobacco than others, but there is a limit to what any heart can stand. The man who puts this additional strain on his heart a dozen times a day by smoking cigarettes, a pipe or cigars—or chewing tobacco—is taking a madman's chance with health and life to lose and nothing to win but the chance that he may not lose them. He is indulging in a costly habit at the expense of precious health. Ask any doctor anywhere, and he will tell you that using tobacco is injurious and that it is far better to quit the habit than to experiment to find how much tobacco your heart will stand without serious results.

But the thought of quitting is unpleasant to most men—even to those who know that tobacco injures them—and to really quit takes more will power than they have and causes more suffering than they can voluntarily endure. To quit the habit, make it easy for yourself by getting

Benny Leonard Will Meet Lew

WILL GO FIFTEEN ROUNDS

Pete Herman to Fight Either
Moore or Lynch at New Orleans.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Two big championship fights have practically been arranged for Thanksgiving Day.

Benny Leonard, world's light weight champion will meet Lew Tendler, the Philadelphia light weight in a fifteen round, no decision bout at New Haven. Pete Herman, bantam champion will meet either Pal Moore or Joe Lynch at New Orleans.

The Leonard-Tendler mill has the promise of being one of the season's best battles. The Quaker light weight despite the whipping he received from Willie Jackson has everything that brands him as a real candidate for the crown worn by Billy Gibson's champion. Tendler has been yelping for a fight for months and so thoroughly convinced the fans of his sincerity that they made a demand for a chance for the Sleepy City boy that Gibson couldn't turn down.

Pete Herman wants to get back into the good graces of the fans who have been panning him of late. He has agreed to fight anyone on Turkey Day that his manager will sign up. He'll take either Pal Moore or Jimmy Wilde fame or Joe Lynch, the New York flash. Rather than have the two aspiring little fellows run the risk of broken limbs in the rush after the match he suggests that Moore and Lynch get together about Oct. 20 in some ring, and decide who gets to put on the gloves for a crack at the champion ship.

Fans who saw that go between Lynch and the champion at New Haven were almost one in declaring that the New York boy made the southerner look foolish. Herman retained his championship by running away, they claimed. If Lynch and the little Pete do get together in a bout of reasonable length, the following of the Gotham scrapper will lay odds that their idol will bring home the crown.

The Shamrock is without question the sign of Ireland and everything that's Irish. That's admitted. But here's the exception to the rule. Manager John Callahan of the Grands announces that Manager Goldberg will bring his Steubenville Shamrocks to the city for a game with the local team next Saturday afternoon.

EASTERN TEAMS
IN FOR LACING

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Sweet words will hardly figure in the talk that several eastern coaches will band out this week to their charges.

As a result of hairbreadth escapes Saturday against opposition that the student bodies had been figuring as practice material, Cornell and Princeton need an injection of "new stuff" to get over the stumbling block in their way which looms up in the shape of Larry Barkart's Colgate eleven. Coach Daly's cadets at West Point by their loss to Syracuse, have also given their pilot "things to worry about" when he thinks of the navy game—the only thing that counts on the army calendar.

The chesty crowning of Lafayette which considered its stunt of holding Princeton to a 9 to 6 score as a victory, isn't the only thing sticking in the craw o' the Tiger students. Their star center, Murray Scureman, went out of the game Saturday for the season with a broken leg and dampened the hopes of the orange and black students when they think of a terrific schedule ahead with Colgate, West Virginia, Harvard and Yale.

Injuries to Capt. Ewen, Graves and Severn, which may keep them out of the game for several weeks, would be causing some unrest at Annapolis if the Middies were facing any stiff opposition, but they have almost a paved road to the army game.

Yale and Harvard had such an easy time with North Carolina and Colby that Coaches Sharpe and Bob Fisher gave nearly all of their bench warmers a workout in the last half. Both teams showed enough backfield strength and all-round playing to make their prospects look rosy until Nov. 22 when they get together at Cambridge.

Colgate bemoan the fate that keeps from a meeting with Harvard or Yale. The Colgate eleven hit its real strength in beating Brown on a wet field and it has all the appearance of a bunch that may hold its own in its coming game with Cornell, Princeton and Dartmouth.

WEALTHY WOMAN LIVED
ON 75 CENTS A DAY

NEW YORK — Although she left an estate valued at $250,000, Mrs. Charlotte Ackerman, a widow, during the latter years of her life, adhered strictly to a rule that her expenses for food would not exceed 75 cents a day.

Details of the management of her household were disclosed in a report filed in the surrogate's court.

She had two servants who secured their meals and sleeping accommodations outside her house. Her only charge accounts, according to the referee's report, was bread, ice and gas.

SEEK DATA ON

A questionnaire from the Federal Electric Railway commission at Washington, D. C., seeking data on the condition of electric railways in the East Liverpool district has been received by W. I. Lewis, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Similar query sheets have been forwarded to responsible parties in practically every city in the United States. Data collected by this means will be compressed into a report to be submitted to President Wilson.

The questionnaire will be turned over to officials of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company, Mr. Lewis said.

BRITISH MUNITION GIRLS
PAWNING THEIR FINERY

LONDON — When munition girls made $20 to $25 a week they bought fur coats at $100 to $250. Since munition making stopped they have faced lean times and started pawning their finery. So many fur coats have been left with "Uncle" that the collective "Uncle" of London has issued an edict that no more fur coats will be accepted.
